If you are having trouble...

Someone else may be signed into Google. You'll need to sign them out and sign in yourself. You can do that by one of the following steps. Follow the instructions that work for what you see on your computer.

If someone else's username is here

You'll need to sign them out by clicking this before you are able to sign in

If someone else is already signed into Google Classroom, you will see that person's username here. You will need to click the username to log them out before you can sign in After you click it, you will see a box like this appear. Click "Add account" and then you can log in.
